Project Approach:

Working with Associate firm, History Behind the Scenes, CVG formulated the Master Plan for the Irish Village, a proposed outdoor living history village of mid-nineteenth century Ireland to be located in East Durham, NY. The Irish Village master Plan developed a living history museum from the ground up, including site plans, field research in Ireland, market analysis, interpretive framework and storylines, operations planning, and historic architecture and landscape concepts.

Project Outcomes:

Enabled by this comprehensive profile of what is needed for the further design, development and operation of a new outdoor museum, the client is exploring funding opportunities. They continue to mange existing cultural programming while developing support for this unique, compelling and massive undertaking.
